

PARENTS' DAY

ORIGIN OF PARENTS DAY

The origin of Parents day from many different countries got inspired by the United States' first "Mother's Day." 3 years after the Civil war in U.S. a woman called Anna Jarvis made "Mothers' Friendship Day." On this day, mothers who lost their kids during the war came together and comfort each other.

CARNATION

To celebrate Parent's Day, try making carnations for your parents! Carnations have many different meanings:

- Red carnation: "belief of love or love that wish for health."
- Yellow carnation: contempt
- Pink carnation: enthusiastic love
- White carnation: love toward the deceased

The tradition of giving carnations to parents on Parent's Day originated from a woman called "Anna Jarvis's" mom's funeral. Jarvis gave carnations to people who came for her mom's memorial service and decided to celebrate "Mom's Day" which turned into "Parent's Day."

HOW TO WRITE A LETTER

If making carnations is difficult, try write letters for your parents! Letters with sincerity always makes someone happy.

These are the top 5 statements that you can include in your lovely letter:
